PADDING IS REVEALED BY TEST AUDITS

Quebec Municipal Officials Charged With Systematic Manipulation of Records

ALBERTA FIGURES ARE QUESTIONED

OTTAWA, March 29 (CP).—Test audits in every province under relief legislation disclosed the Dominion Government had been overcharged for its share of unemployment costs, it was shown today when reports from the Auditor-General were made public. The dates of the reports vary, but it was understood most of the claims have been settled in the meantime by the Dominion and provinces.

In practically every case, the Dominion official took exception to the scanty records and accounting systems in vogue in the various provinces. He claimed it was impossible, in the majority of cases, to make a complete audit of the accounts without taking many months.

REPORTS MADE PUBLIC
The reports were tabled in the House of Commons last Friday and made public today.

Tabling of the reports was brought about at the instance of Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, who charged that there had been systematic looting of the Federal Treasury for both direct relief and public works on which Dominion moneys were spent.

In Nova Scotia, the Auditor-General found, a minimum of $42,380 should be refunded, and that, in addition, $12,564 should be refunded pending production of satisfactory records.

SAHARA DESERT ONCE A JUNGLE
French Explorers Find Evidence of Animal Life in Prehistoric Era

ALGER, Algeria, March 29 (AP).—Evidence of a rich jungle life in the middle of the Sahara during prehistoric times was reported by French explorers today.

The scientists, Professors Gauthier and Reysse, of the University of Algiers, returned from the Tassili des Ajers region, thirty miles south of Algiers, with the statement that the savanna they had found in the barren sands surpassed in technique rock carvings found earlier near Orlan.

Pictures and sculptures they uncovered were interpreted as confirming previous traces of a "lost" civilization first revealed in the same region more than a year ago with the discovery of a fourth century caravan trail.

The district of their explorations is in the neighborhood of the Ajers Plateau, almost eight hundred miles south of Algiers—an area of sand dunes, sparse vegetation and heat.

Once, however, the professors believe, because they found many animal pictures of elephants, giraffes, ostriches and other creatures.

Bed of Pansies Down the Well
PORTLAND, Ore., March 29 (CP).—On the spot where a day before she planted a bed of pansies in her backyard, Mrs. W. J. Sheridan saw a gaping hole four and one-half feet in diameter and over fifty feet deep.

A contractor said the hole was an abandoned well which had probably been there many years.

Distinguished Early Morning Visitors

THEIR Excellencies Earl and Countess of Bessborough arrived here early yesterday morning from the Mainland, to spend ten quiet days in this city. They debarked from the Ss. Princess Louise at 8:45 a.m. Above is a picture taken of the Governor-General and the Countess as they were leaving the ship.

Veterans Invite Prince of Wales To Convocation

His Royal Highness, President Roosevelt and Earl of Bessborough Asked to Attend Historic Convention of Canadian Legion in Portland, Oregon—To Promote World Peace

WITH invitations being extended to the Prince of Wales, the Earl of Bessborough, and the President of the United States, as well as a host of other notable figures, the first Canadian Legion Convention to be held outside the British Empire, at Portland, Oregon, will be an affair of tremendous historic importance, it was indicated here yesterday, by James N. Flood, chairman of the Canadian Legion convention committee of Portland.

Mr. Flood, who addressed a special meeting of the Victoria and District Council of the Canadian Legion, last night, stated that every public and private organization in the South was strongly supporting the convention of the British Columbia Command, which will be held during the Portland Rose Festival.

EARTH SHOCKS CAUSE ALARM
Many Hurt and Buildings Wrecked by Two Tremors in Rumania

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 29 (AP).—At least twenty-five persons were hurt and eight houses were wrecked, tonight, at Jassi by two prolonged earthquake shocks that were felt throughout Rumania.

Many were hurt at Galati, where several houses also were damaged. One building fell in a Bucharest suburb and several others nearby were badly cracked.

In Bucharest, terrified crowds poured into the streets from public buildings and homes. The shocks were said to be the worst experienced within recent memory.

SOPIA, Bulgaria, March 29 (AP).—A strong earthquake was felt, tonight, in Northern Bulgaria. Although not so strong in Sofia, it was sufficient to cause a panic in some quarters.

Dominion Billed for Large Increases in Relief Expenditures
Federal Share Jumped Enormously on Province Taking Over Responsibility From Municipalities—Loose Accounting Shown by Auditor-General

OTTAWA, March 29 (CP).—When British Columbia took over from the municipalities relief expenditures among single, homeless unemployed, it increased the Dominion's share, sometimes from 83 cents a month to $12 per person, it was disclosed in the Auditor-General's report tabled in the House of Commons.

In November, 1932, the Province took over administration of relief for single, homeless men, said the report, dated March 30, 1933. Under the new scheme, the Dominion was to contribute to the cost. It was learned that, by shifting the responsibility for single unemployed men, the cost in numerous instances increased from $1.50 per month to between $5 and $12 per month in many instances the payment of $6 per month to persons over twenty-one, whether living at home or otherwise, was regarded as a Government-created right. In addition to an increase in the number of people who benefited, because municipalities were relieved of their cost of relief, the transfer of responsibility had, in many instances, the effect of increasing the cost of relief.

LAST ACT OF LEGISLATURE GIVES TO GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF MARKETING; INDUSTRIAL CODES ARE POSSIBILITY

Minister of Labor Indicates Codified Industry May Be Effected Under S.P.A.

LOOKS FOR ACTION BETWEEN SESSIONS

WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP).—Rallying again to the Presidential standard they deserted two days ago, to override the veterans' veto, Democrats pushed the Administration's Reciprocal Tariff Bill through the House of Representatives today, over stubborn Republican opposition.

The measure was sent to the Senate with two Administration-sanctioned amendments, limiting to three years the authority of the President to negotiate trade agreements, and precluding any foreign debt reductions under its provisions.

A roll call vote on passage was forced by Republicans, resulting in approval, 273 to 111.

Legislature Ends Historic Session With Tense Drive

Lieutenant-Governor Assents to S.P.A., Refunding Law and New Blanket Measure to Control Marketing of Natural Products—Fraser Bill and Chiropractors' Measure Ratified

BRITISH Columbia's Eighteenth Legislature was prorogued at the end of its first session, at 4:10 p.m., yesterday, by Hon. J. W. Fordham Johnson, Lieutenant-Governor, leaving a Liberal Government with almost Fascist powers in complete charge of the affairs of the Province. His Honor assented to more than seventy bills, and specifically to the Special Powers Act, a blanket refunding act, and a new measure called the Natural Products Marketing Act, authorizing control over the marketing of the products of the land, forests, waterways, food and beverages.

While the Legislature prorogued, urgently pressing problems of finance and unemployment remained to be faced by the Government under the complete assumption of legislative authority it has requested and has now secured. A fall session is already being canvassed, subject to the will of the Legislature. The session, which began on February 20 and which was featured by a complete break with traditional parliamentary precedents in the delegation of borrowing, spending, and law-making powers to the Executive Council, closed after a ruffled debate on the new measure, the N.P.M.A.

Elsewhere described, the N.P.M.A. was introduced by the Government to implement the full powers of the Federal marketing law in Provincial terms, when the Dominion bill replaces the arms reduction parity.

RELUCTANT TO START
A proposal to build another powerful battleship like the Dunderberg, now under construction, had been approved, but a hard-pressed French Government is reluctant to go ahead with the plan.

The parity accord of 1931 went to smash through the experts' misunderstanding over its text, which was made ambiguous by a faultily placed comma.

Under present conditions France and Italy have the right to build more capital ships up to the limits of the Washington naval treaty.

Sea Monster Is Seen At Play With Mate In Mouth of Harbor

Ingram McGavin Obtains Close View of Two Strange Creatures From Breakwater—One Attempts to Catch Seagulls

WHATEVER doubt may have existed with regard to Amy Cadborosaurus having a mate, was dispelled yesterday, when Ingram McGavin, son of Alderman Amy McGavin, reported that he saw Amy's suitor, and about 10:30 o'clock.

They were so close at the time that Mr. McGavin even heard their snorts as they lifted their heads from out of the water and gambled about gleefully.

SWISHING NOISE
"I heard a swishing noise, then a snorting," Mr. Ingram told a Colonist reporter when recounting the breakwater at the time, and glancing down I saw a queer-looking head rise out of the water, and there was the sea monster. Its head must have been about four feet long."

It was traveling fast, so Mr. McGavin ran towards the end of the breakwater, a distance of some 200 yards. Every once in a while the sea monster would raise its head out of the water and snort. Not much of its body was showing, but the water was broken for some distance behind the head, the witness stated.

MEETS COMPANION
Off the end of the breakwater it was joined by its companion. They disappeared for a while, and some seagulls appeared overhead making a peculiar cry. Then one of the sea serpents raised its head out of the water, exposing its neck and body for about ten feet. It was as if it snatched at one of the birds, but having failed, disappeared towards William Head with its companion.

Only the head was clearly discernible to Mr. McGavin. It was just like a snake's head, only of prodigious size. In color it was a dirty brown. When one of them snatched at one of the seagulls, it opened its mouth more than a foot wide, Mr. McGavin said.

Japan Pays Her Dues in Gold Francs

GENEVA, March 29 (AP).—Japan paid 1,000,000 gold francs to the League of Nations today, officials interpreted the action as meaning that, though that country resigned from the League, it intends to pay its obligations promptly while still legally a member.

The payment cheered League circles considerably, because some of the nations owe a total of some 22,000,000 francs in membership dues.

LIVES CLAIMED IN HOTEL FIRE

Undetermined Number of Persons Killed and Injured in Texas Inferno

LONGVIEW, Texas, March 30 (AP).—An undetermined number of persons were killed and injured early today, in a fire which swept through the Longview Hotel, a three-story structure located in the heart of Longview's business district.

Three bodies were recovered and several persons were missing. Hospitalized persons jammed with persons rushed to them for treatment, burns and injuries suffered when they leaped from windows in a desperate attempt to escape the flames.

SEATTLE, March 29 (AP).—Two coastguard patrol boats were ordered out from Port Townsend, to look for the small University of Washington oceanographic boat, Catalist, which had gone aground on Protection Island, in Northern Puget Sound, the coastguard here reported.

The island is between Port Townsend and Dungeness, opposite the entrance to Port Discovery Bay. The vessel was not badly aground. It was reported, and the patrol boats were expected to be able to float it by 3 a.m., tomorrow, on a high tide.

AIR DRAMA IN MAKING

Soviet Flyers Are Ready to Attempt Rescue of Marooned Men

NOME, March 29 (AP).—Another air drama of the Far North was in the making here today with the Soviet aerial expedition to rescue eight men marooned on ice floes in Bering Sea, 350 miles from here, hoping for favorable weather so that flights to ferry the group to the Alaska mainland might begin.

If good weather is reported from Siberia and Camp Schmidt, the camp on the ice named after the party's leader, Prof. Otto Schmidt, Pilot F. A. Levansky planned to leave for Cape Vankarem, where the Russian air hero, Lipadovsky, was found on March 18 after being forced down near Koluchino Island. Prof. George Yushakoff, leader of the expedition, and Mechanic Clyde Armstrong were to accompany him.

After learning Lipadovsky's need for repairs, Levansky expected to hop for Camp Schmidt, and, weather permitting, bring some of the marooned men here. He is flying a nine-place plane.

Members of the expedition, with two planes, arrived here yesterday from Nulato, 200 miles away, which they had left without a weather report because of broken communications. Snow and sleet got worse as they proceeded and they were forced to fly alongside telephone poles. They circled Nome five times and

Mrs. Creighton Succumbs Here

After fifty years' residence in British Columbia, Mrs. Margaret N. Creighton, former New Westminster resident, died here suddenly, Wednesday.

Born in Nova Scotia, the daughter of the late Rev. James and Mrs. Christie, she came to this province in 1884. For forty years she had made her home in New Westminster. Six years ago, following the death of her husband, J. W. Creighton, she came here to reside with her sister, Mrs. A. S. Innes, 929 Fairfield Road.

Mrs. Creighton is survived by one son, Charles P. Creighton, Montreal; three sisters, Mrs. Innes, Victoria; Mrs. W. A. McGuire, San Francisco; and Mrs. K. C. Cox, London, England; one brother, J. D. Christie, Seattle; six nieces and one nephew. Her youngest son, Arthur, was killed while serving at Vimy Ridge.

Funeral services will be conducted at Mrs. Innes' residence on Saturday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock, after which the remains will be forwarded by Jayward's B.C. Funeral Company to Vancouver for cremation.

HOUSE TAKING EASTER RECESS

Authority to Pay Relief Accounts to Expire Before Session Resumes

OTTAWA, March 29 (CP).—Parliament adjourned last night for the Easter recess, with the Government's unemployment bill still under consideration and the provinces facing the necessity of maintaining relief without Dominion assistance for nine or ten days. The relief legislation now operating will expire Saturday, and until Parliament reassembles April 9 there is no chance of resurrecting it by the time before the House.

After adjournment, it was announced the provinces and municipalities will be forced to carry on relief for the ten-day interval without Dominion assistance. It will mean the Dominion will not have authority to pay accounts and these will pile up until the extending bill passes the House and the Senate.

It was not believed there would be any curtailment of relief throughout the country.

RELIGIOUS TOUR PAID NO PROFIT

W. Bone Awaits Decision of Court as to Liability for Licence Fee and Fine

A decision in the city police court case in which William Bone, a member of the Bible Students, is charged with having failed to take out a transient traders' licence which it is alleged he is required to provide, will be given by Magistrate Jay next Wednesday. The city officials contend that the accused is a seller of books and booklets and that he is, therefore, required to take out a licence under the city by-law.

Represented by Stuart Henderson, it is claimed for the accused that he is simply one who is distributing religious books, etc., and accepting any donations that the public may offer. Mr. Henderson set out that the accused was not engaged in the work he was doing for profit. He was doing what he believed it was his duty to do from religious motives. What he was engaged in was not a trade or business within the meaning of the by-law.

C. L. Harrison took the position that the operations engaged in were such that he fell under the by-law.

Fire Guts Toronto Apartment House

THE lives of more than 100 women were endangered when a fierce fire broke out in a Toronto apartment house. Fire swept through the entire building, and damage to the extent of close to $200,000 was done before the firemen could get it under control. Nearly seventy-five women were forced to flee in an icy cold wind, many of them being carried down the ladders by firemen. All occupants were removed in safety. At left is seen a fireman ascending a ladder into the burning building. Right, the flame-swept apartment house.

TO ARGUE CASE NEXT TUESDAY

Nanaimo Counsel in Waterfront Dispute Will Present Argument in Supreme Court Here

All day yesterday was occupied in the Supreme Court with the hearing of evidence in the case of W. A. B. Paul vs. F. H. Bates, which is a dispute over the question of access to waterfront at Kye Bay, in Comox District. The case opened on Wednesday, with Arthur Leighton representing the plaintiff, and F. S. Cunliffe, the defendant.

The final witness in the case for the defence was the defendant, Mr. Bates, who is the principal of the North Vancouver, and who uses the property which he acquired twenty years ago, as an outing place for the boys during the summer.

The defendant, in his evidence, said that after the acquisition of the adjoining property by the plaintiff, the latter suggested the acquisition of a triangular piece of land on the waterfront from him, in exchange for twice as much farther back. The defendant stated that at that time the plaintiff never raised the question of the land as not being entitled to the land as was now set up.

With the conclusion of the taking of the evidence, Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson adjourned the case until Tuesday morning, when argument of counsel will be heard. No more evidence will be submitted.

ALTERING LOTS IS NOT FAVORED

Division of Uplands Property From Original Survey Does Not Meet With Approval

Oak Bay Council has been asked by Dr. J. A. Stewart, of the Uplands, to consent to an alteration in the matter of the subdivision of its affects his property. The matter came before the council at its meeting, yesterday afternoon, when, after discussion, it was agreed that the matter should stand over for further consideration in committee.

At the same time, the opinion was expressed that there was not likely to be any action allowing the new system of subdividing owing to the restrictive covenant that covered the Uplands. This precluded, in the opinion of legal authorities, any action until after January, 1935.

It was, moreover, the opinion of members of the council that the altering of the Uplands would not be in the best interests of the municipality. Reeve R. W. Mayhew expressed the opinion that nothing that was done should be along the line of ruining the beauty of the spot. It was also suggested that even if a change were possible, it would be setting a bad precedent and there might be a general move in this direction.

MYSTERIOUS MAN HUNTED

French Police On Trail of American Wanted for Questioning

PARIS, March 29 (AP).—A mysterious American whose name was vaguely given as Johnson, was sought tonight for questioning about the slaying, February 21, of Judge Albert Prince, who "knew too much" about the $40,000,000 Stavisky pawnshop bond scandal.

It was learned that police were on his trail after the arrests and grilling of two men, who were charged later with murder, the detention of a third suspect in March, and the announcement that two Argentines also were sought.

The American was supposed to have frequented the same night club as his two associates.

Experts, meanwhile, concluded that Serge Slavsky committed suicide. Their findings refuted public charges that Slavsky had been killed by police to keep his mouth shut.

FINANCIER OF NEW YORK DIES

Otto H. Kahn Succumbs Suddenly to Heart Attack in His Office

NEW YORK, March 29 (AP).—Otto H. Kahn, whose operations in the field of finance wielded a powerful influence on the early twentieth century, died suddenly today. He was sixty-seven years old. At 1:45 p.m., the banker-patron of art and music slumped in his chair and fell to the floor of his private office in the firm of Kahn, Loeb & Company, of which he had been a dominating partner since leaving his native Germany for the United States years ago. A clot on the heart caused death.

Word that Kahn had died spread over Manhattan rapidly. But the firm made no statement of it until the stock market closed at 3 p.m., fearful of a possible influence on trading.

Though a bit weakened by age and recent ailments, Kahn yesterday and earlier today had appeared in fair health.

The "bulk" in All-Bran is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this better than taking patent medicines—so often harmful?

THEIR EXCELLENCIES' VISIT

It is a tribute to the climate here that Their Excellencies should have selected Victoria for an extended stay in the course of their present unofficial visit to the West. On a previous visit, the first since their occupation of Rideau Hall, they acquired a liking for this quarter of the Dominion, possibly because climatic and scenic conditions here reminded them strongly of their homeland. Whatever the cause, their presence here again and now for a visit of ten days is a compliment to Victoria and one which the people will relish. They are welcome guests, the more so because Their Excellencies continue to win golden opinions in their travels through the Dominion.

It was proposed that there should be a viceregal residence here where the Governor-General and his household might spend a portion of each year. The suggestion never advanced because the speculative stage because there were inherent difficulties, the main one being the desirability of His Excellency never being far removed from Ottawa for any lengthy period. That the suggestion should have been advanced, however, shows the desire of the people in this quarter of the Dominion to see more of the King's representative. That is a tribute to his popularity, and recalling it will show Lord and Lady Bessborough the esteem in which they are held and emphasize the hope that their present visit here will prove enjoyable in every sense.

THE LEGISLATIVE SESSION

The session of the British Columbia Legislature which closed yesterday cannot be estimated in its accomplishments until it is first known what use is to be made of the revolutionary legislation for which it was responsible. Its achievements, therefore, in the main are for the present hypothetical. The Legislature has, in other words, hypotecated its powers. It has, to a degree, abdicated its authority. It has placed in the hands of the Government a weapon that can be used in a dangerous sense by an administration, that is provided that it can be used legally at all. The act of the Legislature does not make it legal. It is the courts' interpretation of the extent to which that Legislature may delegate its authority that will decide in the long run what was accomplished during the session.

Specifically nothing was accomplished to implement the Liberal Party's promise of work and wages. The public looked anxiously to the Legislature for measures designed to achieve this end, but looked in vain. There was no programme outlined. The public looked as well for the institution of drastic moves in the direction of provincial economy. In this particular they also looked in vain. The vast bulk of the legislation was in the nature of amending Acts. Of new measures passed, pending their approval by the Governor-General-in-Council, only two will stand out in the public memory. One is the Special Powers Act, the other is the Amendment to the Revenue Act, which, like the former, gives certain blanket powers to the Government. Both are dangerous innovations, both are of a character subversive of representative government; both are capable of giving scope for acts of turpitude unexampled in provincial history. In saying this there is no imputation of the good faith of the present Provincial Government. That administration possibly believes that it is more capable of devising measures for the welfare of the province than is the Legislature. It has, on paper, secured power to assume an authority which is inherent in the Legislature itself by the terms of the Constitution. How it will exercise that authority for the welfare of the people during the next twelve months will, on one basis of judgment, be the measure of accomplishment of the late session of the Legislature.

The repercussions of public opinion over the attempt to suspend representative government temporarily will persist. The people are definitely dissatisfied at what has been done by the Legislature. Outside of that body the only support which Mr. Pattullo has received is from a few isolated Liberal Associations. On the other hand, mass meetings have condemned his course of action. The Special Powers Act should never have been railroaded through the Legislature. It was a departure which should have been before the public for many months, for the fate of a Legislature ultimately depends on the responsiveness of public opinion to its actions. This means that the late session and its accomplishments will continue to be regarded with apprehension at a time when such apprehension should not exist in the interest of stability in public opinion. The Government has embarked on a questionable experiment. More than ever in the past that Government and its actions will be centred in the fierce light of a public opinion which will canvass thoroughly every move which it promotes.

IF YOUTH BUT KNEW

Mr. Gordon Sloan, the Provincial Attorney-General and the youngest of the Cabinet Ministers in Mr. T. D. Pattullo's Government, has expressed the sentiment that this is an age of youth and that the young must be given the right of way in solving the problems of the time. These may not have been his exact words but they summarize what he sought to express, and it is a sentiment worth some comment. One of the troubles of the depression has been the number of people who have allowed themselves to be stamped both morally and intellectually. There has been a lack of mature judgment brought to bear on the causes which led to economic depression. Only those who kept their mental balance realized that, in the words of Mr. John Drinkwater, the novelist, "the world cannot blow itself to pieces to the tune of ten thousand men and twenty millions pounds a day for four years and expect to escape the consequences."

Mr. Sloan believes that the salvation of the times lies in the hands of youth. Mr. Drinkwater is not so sure of this. The latter says that nothing is more charming in life than an intelligent co-operation between youth and maturity, "but youth that disdains to learn from the maturity to which it will itself so soon come, is merely suffering from undisciplined emotion. It is the statesmanlike outlook which applies the lessons of history to all phases through which the world passes. Youth has not necessarily that outlook, through lack of experience and learning. That does not disqualify it from solving present-day problems but it illustrates that those problems can best be solved by the co-operation of all—youth, middle aged and old. Mr. John Drinkwater admits that the middle-aged generation of today is handing on a legacy of deep perplexity to its successors. He points out, however, that it was this middle aged generation that suffered the burden of death and bereavement and material ruin in the war. It is undoubted that youth today faces a difficult world; it faces as well a world of unexampled possibilities. That world was made what it is, "perhaps by the follies, but not less by the agonies of his fathers." "Never," says Mr. Drinkwater, "has it been less becoming for youth to whine."

Mr. Drinkwater has a lesson to read to a certain section of youth, and it is one that Mr. Sloan might assimilate. Among the intelligentsia of youth he says that complaint is popular. Much of the new fiction and poetry whines dreadfully, chiefly about the psychological condition of its authors. The authors themselves describe this as sincerity. Mr. Drinkwater says it is invertebrate bad temper, and is acutely and very tiresomely symptomatic of the aimless desire for change produced by a period of national unrest. With the recovery of stability he believes it will pass. Statesmanship today lies in the constructive power that is founded on a living respect for tradition. The extent to which youth has that power will determine what it can do for the present generation. The extent to which it has knowledge to bring to bear on the problems of the time is the manner in which it has assimilated the experiences of the past. It must, as well, have the power of co-operation with its elders whose experience has been the ripper. That is the belief of Mr. Drinkwater. It will be the belief of Mr. Sloan when the latter has had a more lengthy experience in politics and in life. In this relation Mr. Drinkwater says: "An emergency measure proposed by the panic thought of our time demands that youth must be given a chance. We are told that Pitt was Prime Minister at twenty-four, and that Wellington won Waterloo at forty-six. Therefore, it appears, everyone should be forcibly removed from active participation in the affairs of the country before he reaches the age of fifty. The answer to this kind of hysteria is, in the first place, that youth has never been treated with so much consideration, not to say flattery, as it is today. Secondly, in any wholesomely regulated State, youth can only come to the proper exercise of its powers under the friendly guidance of ripe experience than its own."

WORLD-STRANGENESS

Strange the world about me lies,
Never yet familiar grown—
Still disturbs me with surprise,
Haunts me like a face half known.
In this house with starry dome,
Floored with gemlike plains and seas,
Shall I never feel at home,
Never wholly be at ease?
On from room to room I stray,
Yet my heart can ne'er rest easy,
And I know not to this day
Whether guest or captive I.
So, between the starry dome
And the floor of plains and seas,
I have never felt at home,
Never wholly been at ease.

Sir William Watson.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Something is rotten in the state of Denmark—Shakespeare.

If men would only take the chances of doing right, the world would be a different place. The immediate certainty of the advantage of doing wrong, how much happier would their lives be—Huxley.

Makers of laws and of history, who of course are the legislators of this and all other lands, appear to have found out that laws are not of much use unless they are equipped with teeth. So the law-makers of British Columbia and of Ottawa have added the practice of dentistry to their occupations, and are busy putting teeth in their laws. Let us hope that the teeth being put in the laws may not develop into fangs, with poison sacs at the roots of them.

In some other countries the legislators appear to have found out, or believe they have found out, that the better way is to abolish legislatures rather than attempt to pull the teeth of the laws they pass. Russia started the new reform movement, and Italy and Germany and several other nations of less importance have followed her example. There may be legislation of a sort in all those countries, but their teeth have been extracted. In the ultra-democratic country of the United States President Roosevelt believed he had performed a painless dental operation upon Congress, but has found out that Congressmen could bite. There must surely be some poison in the wound Congress has inflicted upon Mr. Roosevelt.

At any rate, there is no doubt that the President has suffered in pride, in reputation, in prestige and power by the rebuff given him by Congress. When Congress meekly submitted to having a few of its teeth pulled the President's more enthusiastic Democratic supporters hailed him as a modern man of destiny. They claimed he had tamed the beasts which mauled former President Hoover, and that he had them tamely eating out of his hand. And there is no doubt that the people of all the world "held their breath for a time" and wondered. Few people believed that Congressmen would bite the hand out of which they were feeding.

Congress appears to have been either temporarily hypnotized or in a state of suspended animation. Averted by the vision of the tremendous popular vote which defeated Hoover and elected Roosevelt, Congress elected to submit to an operation upon its teeth, relinquishing part of its authority, and gave the new President certain arbitrary powers. Then something happened which indicated that Mr. Roosevelt was not absolutely infallible. An arbitrary ruler who makes one mistake may make other mistakes. It was a demonstrated error to place the task of carrying the air mails in the hands of the military branch of the national service. The national hero, Lindbergh, blundered into the President cancelling the private air mail contracts was a mistake, and the almost immediate death of ten military mail carriers proved the validity of the declaration. That was the first dent in the apparently impregnable armor of the President. Then the action of the upper house of Congress in rejecting the St. Lawrence waterways treaty (which relieved the minds of many Canadians) seems to have completely dissipated the aura which illumined the head of Mr. Roosevelt.

Observing those signs of declining popularity, Congress began to show its teeth and to prove its teeth could bite. There will be an election in November. At that election a complete new House of Representatives and one-third of the members of the Senate will either be elected or defeated. Under every system of democratic government the essential thing is to get elected regardless of all ethical, or even moral, considerations. Every vote counts, and massed votes count big. The war veterans of the United States have made what many regard as extravagant demands upon the Government for pensions or gratuities.

The President has declared that the demands of the veterans are so extreme and so utterly unjustifiable that if they are granted (they are estimated at about two billions of dollars), all the plans of the administration in its attempt to balance the budget a few years hence will be completely frustrated. Congress has adopted the measure for the alleged relief of the war veterans. The President has vetoed it. Both houses of Congress have vetoed the veto of the President. Therefore the Congress which was believed to be tamed has reasserted its authority. President Roosevelt has been reduced to practically the same position as the former President Hoover practically throughout the whole of his executive term.

Mr. Roosevelt may have been wrong in some of his actions, but in the action which he was absolutely right. If it is possible

WILD FLOWERS
Sir,—I was surprised this morning to see a photograph in your paper of three children with masses of Erythroniums in their arms. It is high time this wanton destruction of the beautiful flowers was checked. At this time of the year one meets dozens of people with their arms loaded with these flowers, far more than anyone can possibly use for decoration. A few, artistically arranged in a vase, have a very pleasing effect, but in a mass become hideous.

Can not see why, with all the unfortunate unemployed in and around Victoria, the authorities cannot place one or two men in Mount Leach Park to prevent this desecration before it is too late.

A few years ago Beacon Hill was a mass of Erythroniums and other wild flowers, but from constant picking there is now hardly a wild flower there, and Mount Douglas will soon be reduced to the same state unless some means of protection are provided. If some of the money was utilized for this purpose, which is now wasted in grubbing up all the beautiful ferns and shrub along the roadsides, it would not only go a long way to enhance Victoria's beauties, but would ensure one of her most beautiful parks from ultimate desecration.

THE DRAMA FESTIVAL
Sir,—I am sure that many of those interested in the Drama Festival must have read with regret that the executive has decided to carry out the judging in the same way as last year, namely, the best play of each night is to be chosen, and these to compete in the finals at the end.

The objections to this procedure were so emphasized last year that the majority of us considered that it would not happen again. The objections are as follows: The best play of each night may be the least good; whereas on another night a good play may suffer because it is pitted against an outstanding one.

Let us not, at least, those putting on copyright plays, have to call upon to pay a double royalty, should they win a place in the final, and to pay an extra sum for properties and dresses they may have to hire. I understand the executive is paying a lady to do the judging this year. If so, why not let the judging be done on a points system, as the result given each night. Should the executive wish to have a special night to add to its funds, it could easily arrange for the three leading plays to be put on during the last night, the festival committee pay royalties and expenses, and take the proceeds.

EX TENEBRIS LUX
Sir,—Quite a lot of politics and religion, and not only on my own but on behalf of the thousands who have neither time nor opportunity to give their expression to their feelings, may I say a word of appreciation and thanksgiving?

There may be some who would deny the right of preachers and ministers of the gospel to take any active part in the discussion and settlement of these burning questions of the day, affecting the lives and social relationships; but there are few who will fail to admire the courage of those of them who have faced that inevitable opprobrium, always heaped on innovators, whether in science, in manners and government, or in thought.

Their fearless action is an illustration of the never to be forgotten fact that Christianity is alive—not dead, evolutionary—not static. They are, with conscientious approval, doing today what they would not have dared to do twenty or even ten years ago. One loves a man who, seeing his duty, does something he feels himself specially fitted for and divinely called on to perform—cries out:

"I am the master of my fate,
I am the captain of my soul," throws off those timideities that bind the fearful soul in shackles of outworn convention, and goes to it with all his heart.

Very many will agree in appreciation of the bold stand made by a clergy in this connection; such men, to name four only, as Owen J. P. Conley, Robert Connell, Cecil Quaintance.

oulders that a public meeting of the citizens of Saanich Island had been held, and that at such meeting a resolution was passed protesting against the S.F.A. legislation of the Pattullo Government.

On the contrary I wish to point out in connection with this report that no mention is made of any of the following facts:

First, that this meeting was held in the interests of the C.C.F. party, second, that Harold E. Winch, C.C.F. member of the Legislature, was present and was the sole speaker of the evening.

Third, that the chairman of the meeting and the mover and seconder of the resolution in question were all prominent members of the C.C.F. party on Saanich Island.

From the foregoing it will be clear that the meeting was called, organized and controlled entirely by the C.C.F. party, and as such was in no sense a representative meeting of the citizens of Saanich Island.

In the light of these facts one only comes to the conclusion that the report as printed in your paper and in The Times, is propaganda concocted for political purposes. In view of the oft-repeated professions of high idealism adopted by the C.C.F. party, it would appear that this matter calls for some explanation.

WOMEN'S WORKROOM
Sir,—In September last, through the courtesy of your paper, the committee of the Women's Workroom appealed for funds to keep the room in operation until the end of March, by which time it was hoped that conditions would have improved sufficiently to allow a majority of the women employed in the workroom to find other work, and the room, if kept open at all, to be run on a smaller scale.

As everyone knows, such is not the case, and to close the workroom when the funds from the last appeal are exhausted would be to cause much mental and physical distress to at least a hundred women, who, through no fault of their own, are unable to find suitable employment. Therefore, the Women's Workroom committee has decided to continue its efforts to keep the room in operation for an additional period, and for this reason further financial support is required.

During the last six months (that is, from the first of September until the end of February) disbursements in the room were as follows:

Wages paid to women	$5,965.00
Material purchased	287.61
Salaries to supervisor and two assistants	649.00
Sundry expenses	86.07
Total cost of running the room for six months	$6,987.68

Needless to say, the cost of operating the room would not be so small were it not for the kindness of those friends who supply material and equipment of all sorts.

The wage of $5,965 represents 29,825 hours' work at the rate of twenty cents an hour, given and paid for in six months. Wages being paid at the end of the day they are earned, the money goes directly into circulation.

The supervisors are experienced women who were themselves out of employment. The committee is deeply sensible of the confidence hitherto reposed in it by the public, which has accorded to the workroom the most generous support possible over a period of two and a half years. In response to the last appeal, many good friends, solicited and unsolicited, ranging in value from twenty-five cents to twenty-five dollars, over a period of seven months; others gave cash donations, varying from twenty cents to $100—twenty cents pays for one hour's work. An average of $50 a day is required to keep the room open under present conditions. Wages are paid in cash at the end of each four hours' shift, and, naturally, this money is at once put into circulation in the city. It must be remembered that, in addition to the work, women who are unskilled in the use of the needle are kept in the room open under present conditions, together with the supervisors of the workroom, endeavoring to maintain an atmosphere of friendliness and kindly interest, which has cheered more than one lonely and desperate soul. Without the renewed support of the public, which has cheered more than one lonely and desperate soul, the workroom, endeavoring to maintain an atmosphere of friendliness and kindly interest, which has cheered more than one lonely and desperate soul, would be carried on, and the committee.

OVERTRICKS

While Shakespeare did not play bridge, in his writings he somewhere laid down an important principle which all bridge players must master sooner or later or pay the penalty in lost games. Shakespeare said, "The game's the thing," and by that he is understood to mean that you must not be cheated by a cross-trump. However, not all bridge players are learned in this lesson, as the example below, furnished by Mr. John W. Jacobson, of Toronto, Canada, proves. Perhaps West was just careless, but here is the hand:

East Dealer
East and West vulnerable.

♠ 7 5 3	♥ 9 8 2	♦ A 10 3	♣ K 7 6 5
♠ A J 10 6	♥ A 10 4 3	♦ K Q 4 3	♣ Q 7 6 5
♠ 9 8 5	♥ K 7 4	♦ A 10 3	♣ A Q J 10
♠ K 8 7 4 3	♥ 9 8	♦ 9 8 5	♣ A Q J 10

West was the declarer at a contract of four spades, and North, anxious to preserve his tenuous position, opened a trump.

West won the ten and at once returned a diamond, fessing the ten in the dummy. South permitted this card to hold the trick. West returned to his own hand with the heart ace and led a second diamond. It is now obvious that if the ace of diamonds is cashed, ten tricks can be made by a cross-trump. However, West took a second diamond, which lost to the king, and South returned a heart, which was ruffed by North, who returned another trump. This was won in dummy, the high diamond was cashed and a low heart returned. West still hoped to make the contract. If South had three hearts to the king or if North had to win the third heart lead, voice on the second heart North made the fine play of the knave, allowing South to hold the third round with the ten and return a club to defeat the contract.

TOMORROW'S HAND

The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

Respected Citizen of Jasper Suspected as Former Train Robber

James Fahey, Head of Albertan Family, Alleged to Be Frank Grigware, Hero of Jail Break With Wooden Pistols

JASPER, Alta., March 29 (CP).—Jasper, tonight, was signing petitions to be presented to Premier Bennett and President Roosevelt, praying for leniency for James Fahey, held here as a fugitive from the Leavenworth penitentiary. R.C.M.P. officials allege that, as Frank Grigware, he escaped from the United States institution in 1910.

Meanwhile, two of Fahey's three children, Louise, thirteen, and Marie, nine, are busy with their examinations without the knowledge that their father is being held in R.C.M.P. cells in Edmonton. Their school principal has enlisted the aid of their fellow pupils to keep them from believing other than "mother and father are away on a holiday."

RAILY TO DEFENCE
The Fahey family has lived in Jasper for six years. Mrs. Fahey is in Edmonton with friends, and has reaffirmed her belief in Fahey, whom she married in 1915.

The Jasper Institute of Women is taking a hand, and Mrs. H. Finley, president, declared: "I personally have known the Fahey family for many years, and without fear of contradiction can say there was no more highly respected family in the town. I know Mrs. Fahey to be absolutely square, through personal business dealings."

RECOGNIZED FINGERPRINTS
Fahey's arrest as a fugitive from justice came after fingerprints taken on a conviction of shooting game within a park area, were sent to Ottawa. A keen-eyed observer noted that they were the same as on an old circular describing Grigware.

CHOIR RENDERS MAUNDER WORK

"Penitence, Pardon and Peace" Provides Interpretative Choral Study

A careful study of the subject chosen for interpretation was revealed in the rendition of Maunders' "Penitence, Pardon and Peace," by the choir of the Reformed Episcopal Church last night. W. H. Davis was the organist and conductor, and is to be congratulated upon the manner in which he developed the tonal quality he has at his disposal, and the fine sense of meaning he placed into the musical interpretation of the words.

There are three distinct moods to this cantata, the first two being of a sombre character, but both leading to climaxes. The third, and last mood, is a tranquil one, ending, however, on a note of exultation. The choir caught the spirit of the work admirably, and rendered it with a care to detail that was quite surprising for a choir of this size.

THE scientific world is agog over the report that two French aviators have flown over the legendary town of Sheba, supposed capital of the realm of the famous Queen of Sheba, character of the Bible and the works of Koran. The map shows where the Frenchmen assertedly discovered the remains of the town in Arabia, saying that some towers and temples are still standing. At top is an artist's conception of the meeting of the Queen of Sheba and King Solomon, in Solomon's court, as related in Hebrew history.

LONG SERVICE IS RECOGNIZED

Golden Jubilee in Priesthood Observed by Bishop Alexander MacDonald

RT. REV. ALEXANDER MACDONALD

The many friends of Rt. Rev. Alexander MacDonald, formerly Bishop of Victoria, will be interested in reading of the celebration in Toronto recently of his golden jubilee in the priesthood. The Catholic Register, Toronto, gives the details of his life and work.

Fifty years ago, on March 8, the Most Reverend Alexander MacDonald, D.D., Bishop of Hebron, was ordained priest in Rome. He made his seminary course in the Propaganda College of that city, and returned to Antigonish, N.S., in the summer of 1884. During the following nineteen years he was professor of philosophy and Latin in St. Francis Xavier's College, Antigonish, the institution from which he had himself graduated before going to Rome. In 1903 he was appointed vicar-general of the Diocese of Antigonish, and in 1905 he became pastor of St. Andrew's near Antigonish.

VICTORIA APPOINTMENT

In 1908 he was appointed bishop of Victoria, B.C., and he was consecrated in Rome, January 3, 1909. Since his retirement from Victoria, in 1923, he has resided in Antigonish, but he goes to Toronto every winter to assist the archbishop, and here, as well as in Antigonish, both clergy and laity united in wishing him health and happiness and that which will please him more than these, namely, opportunities to serve God and his fellow-men.

Bishop MacDonald is the author of several books and many brochures on various subjects. He will probably be known to future generations of Catholics as the Doctor of the Sacrifice of the Mass. Many years before Father de la Taille, of France, threw light upon the controversies of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries in Europe on this subject, by his great work entitled "Mysterium Fidei." Bishop MacDonald has written books and magazine articles anticipating the same line of exposition. He is also author of books upon the Apostles' Creed and sermon books.

Bishop MacDonald was honored guest at a dinner arranged by Father Cline, at his residence in the Holy Name Parish, Toronto, on the anniversary day of his ordination. In Toronto he is known and venerated as a man of prayer; in Victoria he has a wide circle of friends and admirers through his kindly interest in the welfare of the community.

Bishop MacDonald is still honorary president of Victoria and Islands Branch, Canadian Authors' Association.

France is the most important centre for the woolled sheepskin trade of the world.

PARAGUAY CLAIMS MANY PRISONERS

Bolivia Reports No Contact of Principals; With Air Superiority Maintained

ASUNCION, Paraguay, March 29 (AP).—Bolivia's strategically located headquarters city, Villamontes, on the upper Pinaro River, midway between La Paz and Asuncion, appeared to be the real objective of the Paraguayan army in a foray into the retreating army of the Chaco early today, when it netted 950 prisoners and large stores at Fort Canada-Tarja, on the Comcho-Paucarapa road. Villamontes, vortex of the entire Bolivian network in the much disputed territory between the countries, is the concentration point for troops and supplies, and the victory of the Paraguayans placed them only 300 kilometres almost directly eastward of the key city.

FIGHTING INTENSE
LA PAZ, Bolivia, March 29 (AP).—The Bolivian army in the Chaco today issued the following report: "Fighting has been intense in front of our positions in the Canada-Tarja sector, where the enemy has concentrated several divisions and launched attacks from Camacho. Our principal positions have made no contact with the enemy. The Bolivian air corps has retained its supremacy against enemy movements."

SWALLOWED NAIL FATAL
IL PERROT, Que., March 29 (CP).—All efforts of his frantic parents to make their three-year-old son, Claude, cough up a one-and-one-half-inch nail he swallowed were of no avail and the child died twenty minutes after putting the nail in his mouth.

A carnival dance will be held on Easter Monday from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., when the special floor attraction will be Miss Brid Cole. In response to many requests, Alan King, who scored such a hit two or three weeks ago, will again be heard.

SAANICH WILL RECEIVE $5,000

New Educational Bill Nets Municipality Sum From Provincial Government

According to a communication received by Saanich council, last night, the municipality will benefit by $5,000 as a result of the new educational bill introduced by Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, and passed by the Legislature. Some discussion was held concerning the allocation of the money, and it was stated that the sum would go to the council and not the school board.

SHINGLE CODE NOT WORKABLE

American Manufacturers Unable to Meet Competition From B.C.

WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP).—Bankruptcy for shingle manufacturers of the Pacific Northwest States was forecast, today, by George A. Bergstrom, Everett, Washington, president of the Washington Shingle Association, unless they are given restrictions on importations from British Columbia mills.

Bergstrom made his prediction following announcement that the commission has set for hearing, in Seattle, April 17, petitions to place shingle importations from Canada on a certificate basis.

Declaring wages are much higher in Washington and Oregon and hours much shorter under the lumber code than in British Columbia, Bergstrom said that Canadian manufacturers could undersell United States operators in the latter's home territory and "force us all out of business."

ALLOTMENT EXCEEDED
"When the lumber code was formed," he said, "shingle operators of both Canada and the United States realized that, unless there was some sort of friendly co-operation, we would be unable to operate under the code's higher wages and shorter hours provisions. Two committees, one representing members of our association and the other British Columbia manufacturers, worked out an agreement, which we considered fair and equitable, that 80 per cent of the code allotment for shingles should go to the United States manufacturers and 20 per cent to Canadian."

ALLOTMENT CERTIFICATES
"Under this plan the importing company would be given certificates for its importation allotment, which the company would apportion among the Canadian plants, and customs officials would not permit shingles which did not have these certificates to enter the country."

COSTS OF RELIEF LARGELY INCREASED
Federal per-month per-person cost from eight-thirty and one-third cents to between $6 and $12.

All through the Auditor-General's report were recommendations for changes in Provincial auditing systems. "While the examination of Provincial misapplication of joint funds disclosed no cases of deliberate misapplication of joint funds, there was evidence of insufficient care in the checking of vouchers, resulting in charges included in administrative expenses, not shareable under the agreements and regulations, being improperly included in the claims on the Federal Government."

SAFEGUARDS NEGLECTED
Commenting on direct relief in British Columbia, the report said it is apparent that there was little or no attempt at uniformity of administration and control of relief, and that necessary safeguards were not provided to prevent abuse.

THREE KILLED IN ELECTION FIGHT

Gadwood was accused of killing Lee Placy, a deputy sheriff. He made inquiries for Placy in the vicinity of the slaying a few minutes before the deputy was shot down. Sheriff Thomas B. Bash said: "The shooting resulted in death to Placy, P. W. Oldham, seventy-three-year-old bystander, and Larro Cappel, a member of the gang alleged to have started the battle. County and city authorities meanwhile questioned thirteen other persons suspected of implication in the terrorism."

Y.P.S. News

OAK RAY

One of the most interesting and enjoyable evenings of this season's Obypa calendar took place at the Oak Bay United Church schoolroom recently. The season was called to order by President Walter Housley. Cyril Ivings led the members in prayer. A brief business period was held, followed by Charles Gibbard, whose devotional topic was "The Master's Magnanimity." Mr. Gibbard was accorded a fine applause at the close of his devotional talk. Vice-President David Stott, who was responsible for the entertainment of the evening, introduced the soloists, Misses Phyllis Williams and Mary Armitage, who rendered a duet, "All Through the Night," which was followed by a solo by Miss Williams. "In the Time of Roses," a musical number was rendered by Reginald Stoffer, "The Old Spinning Wheel," and "In the Evening," played on a saw. Dennis Williams, baritone, sang "Roses" and "Home on the Range." The singers were accompanied by Miss Iris Gaskell. The speaker of the evening, W. L. Patterson, took for his subject "The Romance of Gold Leaf." His topic was the art of gold beating, which has been practised for over 2,500 years. He described the three branches of the process, the cutch, shoder and mould, used by the gold beaters, showing out the gold leaf, which in some cases is less than one three hundred thousandths part of an inch thick. Mr. Patterson stated that a gold piece could make a 50 square feet. He cited this as an illustration of the art and patience used by the gold beater. The gold leaf is used for gilding shop windows, picture frames, etc. A vote of thanks was tendered to the speaker by Walter Housley. A singing brought the evening to a close.

Weddings

DIROM-LOVELL

DUNCAN, March 29.—An interesting wedding took place this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dirom, when the Rev. W. F. Burns united in marriage Irene Esther, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lovell, and Mr. John Joseph Dirom, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dirom, of Duncan. Miss Lovell was a lovely bride, wearing a dress of shimmering blue Canton crepe made bolero style, with a corsage bouquet of pink carnations. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. A. M. Dirom, as matron of honor. Mrs. Dirom wore a model frock of rose beige Canton crepe with a corsage bouquet. The groom was supported by his brother, A. M. Dirom. After the ceremony a reception was held for relatives and intimate friends. Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Miss Violet Carter, of Nanaimo, and Mrs. Jack Dirom and two small daughters from Victoria. After a honeymoon spent at Salmon Arm, Mr. and Mrs. John Dirom will take up residence in Duncan. The bride, who is a popular member of the United Church, has been the recipient of numerous showers recently. The groom is well known in athletic circles, particularly in basketball and swimming.

LONGHURST-WHITE

The marriage took place on Monday, March 26, Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., officiating, of Elma Isabella, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James White, 2933 Cedar Hill Road, and Mr. Fredrick James Longhurst, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Gagnon, Cereel, Alberta. The bride and groom will make their home in Vancouver.

A well-known singer was asked to a party. To his annoyance he was not asked to sing, and when the party was about to break up, very late, he said to the host, "Would you like me to sing Todd's 'Good-bye before I go'?"

"No," replied the host, "don't bother to sing it, old chap. Just say it."

Challenge Cup Presented for Drama Contest

Mrs. David Spencer, Jr., has donated a challenge cup for the best written play by a British Columbia playwright, presented in the junior division of the forthcoming third annual British Columbia Drama Festival, being held at the Crystal Garden Theatre from April 18 to 21, inclusive. The by-law of the British Columbia Drama Festival Association which bans the production of plays having been publicly presented since the last festival, does not apply to junior plays.

The trophy is given to encourage the writing of worthwhile plays in this province, and can only be won by the same author once. Thus, the play winning the provincial junior championship would also be eligible for Mrs. Spencer's cup, if written by a British Columbia playwright, or the play adjudicated as winning the championship might gain this distinction by virtue of clever production, acting, costumes, scenery and lighting, over a better play poorly done. In the latter case, Mrs. Spencer's cup would go to the author of the better play which did not win.

The junior plays are being presented at a matinee performance on Saturday, April 21, at 2 o'clock, at the Crystal Garden Theatre.

Save the Pieces

By HANNAH

THE vogue for the full peasant sleeve is again smiled upon by Paris designers. Many a Spring frock in the Paris openings was nothing more than a sleek little jumper dressed up with huge peasant sleeves, and perhaps a wind-blown collar and bow of some gay print or contrasting fabric. That is indeed good news for the woman who must have at least one or two made over frocks in her wardrobe season after season. No style is more easily adapted to the made-over than the jumper. You can use worn material for either a part, making the jumper of a former wool or crepe frock, or making the peasant sleeves of some gay print which has seen its best days as a whole dress. And what a satisfaction it is to know that in the world of fashion the experts have uttered magic words which make the jumper with peasant sleeves something chic.

Here is the mode which Fifth Avenue designers are adapting for American women. The frock is plain and more or less straight lined, with a belt at a rather high waistline. A slight cape effect at the shoulders is permissible, and the slashed epaulet line used in the illustration does away with the curse of a bare armhole which looks altogether too much like what it may be, an old dress simply with the sleeves cut out. Wide, very wide and voluminous sleeves, with the gay touch to the frock. The soft roll collar with its splashy bow is youthful, and follows the new collar dictates.

Your dress may be black, navy, brown in wool or silk, and the sleeves and bow may be what you will as to color, print and fabric.

There are approximately 170 firms growing or dealing with tree nursery stock, including fruit trees, in Canada.

Children Claim Easter Festival as Their Own

Little Dorothy Dalton, of New York, With Huge Easter Bunny, Mother Hen and Baby Chicks; Inset, Table Decorated for Children.

By LILIAN CAMPBELL

ASTER, like Christmas, seems especially in the morning hours, to belong to the children.

The youngsters are the ones to color the eggs, to hunt for them, and to enjoy the gaily decorated breakfast table. The religious significance of the day, with them, is only a side line, connected with going to church or Sunday school in new clothes and seeing the church beautifully decorated with flowers. The gathering of eggs is also only incidentally connected in their minds with the coming into being of new life, and the blossoming of all nature's handiwork.

The youngsters themselves are a symbol of the glad Easter time, with their intense interest in everything that goes on, and their energy and enthusiasm. The wise mother encourages them to thoroughly enjoy the occasion, and interprets the meaning of it all in such a way that they can use their imaginations and dimly see the spiritual significance of the day—a happy home memory to be interpreted in after years.

You may think the tiny chick that little Dorothy Dalton, of New York, is holding, is a really, truly baby chicken, but it isn't. It is only a novelty from one of the smart New York shops, as are the hens and other chickens in the tiny hen house. The great big rabbit, almost larger than Dorothy, with the ribbon around his neck, is another novelty from the same shop.

The breakfast table I have set especially for the children. There are two rabbits crouching and two standing on their hind legs. The two ducks, which are floating on a pool made by a small round mirror, and surrounded by paper grass, are very yellow. The paper baskets of every child's Easter, each table are decorated with painted flowers, and may each contain a brightly colored egg, and the goblets, plates, cups and saucers, etc., are green glass. The color scheme is green, yellow and white, you see.

A menu that would carry out this color scheme is orange juice, prepared cereal and milk, scrambled eggs, poached eggs, toast, orange marmalade and milk. Crisp bacon may be added.

A hunt for more colored eggs and baskets of candy will, of course, precede the meal; that is a part of every child's Easter.

JOIN NANAIMO ON COAL ISSUE

Ladysmith Council to Take Part in Meeting With Cabinet

LADYSMITH, March 29.—At the regular meeting this evening, the City Council heard a communication from W. W. R. Mitchell, of the Nanaimo Board of Trade, who urged that the condition of coal mining in the province was a matter for grave concern, and stated that the Nanaimo Board and City Council, together with representation from Cumberland, desired the Ladysmith Council and Board of Trade to join with them in meeting the Provincial Cabinet on the matter.

Mayor W. W. Walkem remarked that he had been in telephonic communication with Mr. Mitchell, and understood that the conference with Government officials proposed for Thursday had been postponed until next week. It was decided that Ladysmith will join with these representations.

FAULTY SMOKESTACK
The electric light committee reported a thorough study had been made of the powerhouse smokestack and the whole thing was in bad condition. The committee was not prepared to make any recommendation to the council, however, until after the conference with Mr. Macdonald of the Nanaimo Power Company, which is scheduled for the next council meeting.

ESTIMATES INTRODUCED
The 1934 estimates were introduced for discussion, and the council resolved itself into a committee to deal with them. Estimated receipts, as finally amended, total $11,183.88 compared with actual receipts in 1933 of $11,477.47. Expenditures in the board of works department and in that of the police department, as estimated, were referred back for further consideration. Other slight amendments were made in various items, but the estimated total expenditures of around $20,000 will not be greatly modified by the changes in detail. Included in the expenditures are items dealing with arrears in social service charges and policing, and these items will be further discussed before expenditure for 1934 is definitely fixed.

An increase in the mill rate is regarded as inevitable this year, and the council regarded any further civic economies as practically impossible.

Mother: "Going to be cross? Why, whatever do you mean, child?"
Tommy: "Well, I've just broken his new pipe."

To Lead Canadian Girls

THE Canadian British Empire Games committee met recently and appointed officials to manage and coach the Canadian team for the British Empire Games at London this summer. Miss Alexandra Gibb (above) was unanimously selected to take charge of the girls' team. Miss Gibb is an ex-president of the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada. In 1928 she was in charge of the Canadian girls' Olympic track and field team at Amsterdam, where the six girls won the world's championship against formidable odds. She was also manager of the Canadian girls at Los Angeles in 1932, and since 1930 has represented Canada on the women's sports division of the International Olympic committee.

CHAPTER XXIV
Judith remained away from Mari's apartment two days. Nor did he telephone. Then with no preliminary announcement, he came—with a huge bouquet of orchids.

He made no reference to his proposal, however. So far as appearances went, they were on exactly the same footing as if he had never asked her to marry him.

That not only relieved but pleased Mari. She could not marry him—she could not marry anybody. Of that she was certain. Her heart had died when she had received the news of Kuan's death.

But if she was to continue to dance, and there didn't seem to be anything else she could do, she had to have a manager. Judith had proved himself capable in attending to her business affairs and she did not want to make a change.

He explained his absence by saying that he had been busy, had been going over his routine. Since she was to dance at Pierre's, there should be some novelty since, after all, a year in one place was a long time.

Mari, with those nights at the Elysium and in Herzman's revue in her memory, listened intently as Judith expounded his ideas. Again she experienced relief. In what he wanted her to do, there was nothing vulgar, nothing that would make her feel uncertain. In fact, his change would make her act more like the religious rites, which she knew so well.

"Thank you," she said. "I'll begin to rehearse next week."

He looked at her and she thought she read solitude in his eyes.

"Don't hurry," he said. "But you haven't received any money for—"

Stop that, Mari! You mean more to—excuse me, what I intended to say was that Mari thinks you should continue to rest for at least ten days—says you're entitled to rest, that if you had taken a vacation there wouldn't have been a breakdown. So rehearsals will begin in two weeks.

Meanwhile, take things easy. I'll drop in now and then and go over the routine with you—if I may."

"You may," answered Mari with a smile.

With Etta she began to take walks in the soft spring air, inhaling the scent of lilacs gratefully and admiring the fresh green of the parks—the vivid green that rested her. Daily those walks increased in length.

Her strength had fully returned and with it a new peace. She thought of Kuan—thought of Kuan often. But those thoughts no longer hurt. Kuan was at rest. If the gods had wanted Kuan to be with her, it would have been so. They were true gods. Sometime, they would bring Kuan and her together—and they would know happiness.

that he was in earnest. At the same time she hoped he would never know that her success was only ashes—ashes of everything she had once held dear.

"Tell me more about yourself, Jack," she accented the name slightly—"tell me why you left your home—why the trees that whispered to you."

"The same thing that took you away from your island, I suppose."

"Oh, no, not that!" She spoke too quickly. "But possibly—possibly I do not understand what you mean?"

"It's easy to explain—the big chance, the opportunity to show your art to the world, the opportunity to become Mari, the toast of Paris."

"And is that why you left your pine?"

"I thought it was. I thought I would be a writer—a great writer. I went to New York and ended in a bank. The bank sent me to the branch in Paris—a promotion. I've been here five years—and haven't written a line. Now you have my history."

"You can go back—go back to the land of Michigan." Again she looked into his eyes. "But you no longer hear the call of the pines. Why not, Jack Morley?"

He poked the tender grass with his cane. "Oh, Paris is all right. I guess, and I get a pretty good salary."

"You have not told me all your history," Mari spoke slowly, admitting to herself as she did so that Morley interested her more than any man she had met in Paris.

"Tell me the rest."

"Oh, it isn't interesting."

"It would be interesting to me."

Morley grinned. "I'll tell you one thing that may interest you. Why I came to your dressing-room."

"I would like to know that."

"Business," Mari replied. "I thought I might get your account for my bank."

Mari smiled. And the sweet peace.

"I met her one night at the Ritz—a college friend introduced us. It was Spring—like it is now. I knew she was wealthy, a lot of family too. She was living here with her mother—finishing her education. We saw a lot of each other. I—I fell in love with her. Knew her mother didn't care much for me—just a bank clerk. But I thought Gloria was like that. I like to walk in these woods—I've said that before, haven't I?"

"Had a funny experience here one night. Couldn't sleep and was taking a stroll. Thought there was someone behind me and I looked back. It was dark but I could see two women. One of them screamed at me and called, 'John.' I kept right on going. A friend of mine told me that one night and was stuck up by a couple of men who used the women as a lure. I might have forgotten all about it, but the next night when I went back to Pierre's, I heard who'd been taken suddenly ill and—"

Mari was not listening. So she had mistaken John Morley for Kuan! Her nerves must have been overworked. Morley's eyes were on the grass—he could not see her face. Quickly she regained control of herself.

"What is Gloria's name?" she asked gently.

"Gloria Dean."

"Gloria Dean went back to America."

"As soon as her mother found out how things stood, she took Gloria back to America. Gloria never even said good-bye to me. Suppose I ought to be a sport and forget it—but I can't. Haven't heard a word from her—more than the trees make me walk in the Bois!"

Mari touched his arm. "Why don't you go back to America and—"

"I can't. That takes money. I've got some stocks, but the market is all shot. Besides that, it might be better if I stayed in Paris and—"

"You love Gloria Dean?"

"Yes!"

"And she loves you?"

"She told me she did. It was right here in the Bois—in the moonlight."

"If she wanted you, even if someone else had claimed her, you would take her away from him?"

Morley sprang to his feet, his fists clenched. "Take her from him?—I would!"

Mari arose. "Good-bye, John Morley," she said, extending her hand.

He didn't bow and kiss his fingers as she did. It was

What Today Means

"ARIES"

If March 30 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 to 11 a.m., from 1 to 3 p.m. and from 4 to 6 p.m. The danger periods are from 6 to 8 a.m., from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 8 to 10 p.m. It may prove advisable to refrain from seeking favors on this date. If requested to grant any, be very careful that you fully understand what will be expected of you before committing yourself. You are of a very unassuming nature and should exercise caution, for supposed to be friends may attempt to "put something over," knowing how trustful your disposition is and the ease of getting favors granted without any explanations. Being predisposed to make friends readily, and to accept casual acquaintances on a rather intimate basis, may prove embarrassing unless more discretion is exercised in the future. It sometimes is decidedly advantageous to be a little conservative, especially in the selection of intimates. The child born on March 30 as it grows up will display a great deal of initiative. The originality of some of its ideas will be rather startling, and for the most part they will be of a practical nature. Music will have a special appeal for children whose natal day is celebrated on this date. Ready obedience is one of their principal characteristics, and will prove of great help in their school career,

If March 30 is your birthday, you are blessed with a very liberal and sympathetic disposition, but inclined to be just a little remiss when it comes to attending to important business affairs. It is just as well not to accept too readily the ideas and opinions offered you by others, without carefully investigating to satisfy yourself that they are correct. You will find it advantageous to give careful attention to your personal appearance, especially if calling on strangers, for the first impression you make will be the most important as well as lasting. People born on March 30 are generally the type ready to lend a helping hand. They seldom turn a deaf ear to a worthy appeal, and frequently go out of their way to try and help those less fortunate. They apparently come from unusually sturdy stock for they are exceptionally free, as a general thing, from the ailments claimed by so many men and women. It would not be surprising to discover Mesulach was born on this date, judging from the longevity enjoyed by so many whose birthday falls on it. The stage, literature, and educational work are excellent fields of endeavor for those who celebrate this as a birth anniversary. Clothing—Were you pleased with the overcoat which I sold you? ## Australian Flour Merchants Under Attack in Japan

TOKIO, March 29 (CP via Havas).—Complaints against Australian flour merchants who have allegedly been "dumping" flour in Manchuria were addressed to the Tokio Chamber of Commerce and Industry, today, by Japanese merchants, who claim they are unable to compete. Included in the protest was a specific charge that during the last two months Australian dealers have shipped 100,000 bags of flour to Manchuria for sale at cut rates. A teacher called for sentences using the word "beans." "My father grows beans," said the bright boy of the class. "My mother cooks beans," came from another pupil; then a third piped up, "We are all human beans."

WINGS WILL USE ANOTHER FORWARD LINE

Jack Adams Brings Forward Line Up From Detroit Olympics

DETROIT, Mich., March 29 (CP).—Jack Adams today had a drastic shakeup in his Detroit Red Wings, after watching Toronto Maple Leafs trounce the Wings 5-1, and tie up the National Hockey League series last night.

A complete forward line will be promoted from the Detroit Olympics for the fifth and deciding game Friday night. The Olympic players who will join the Red Wings are Gene Carrigan, Ron Moffatt and Gus Marker.

Adams will drop Frank Carson, Gordon Pettigrew and Will Starr. Markers is a Camrose, Alta., product and is a right winger. He weighs 182 pounds and is a fast skater and good stickhandler. He came to Detroit from Tulsa, of the American Association, and in 1932-33 played with the Red Wings.

Moffatt, a left winger, also came to Detroit from Tulsa, and played with Red Wings in the 1932-33 season. Weighing 170 pounds, Moffatt was a power on Olympics' attacks throughout the season.

WIFFEN CHOSEN SOFTBALL HEAD

Re-elected President of Victoria Junior League—Season to Open April 26

Henry Wiffen was re-elected president of the Victoria Junior Softball League, last night, at the annual meeting held in the Y.M.C.A. Ted Taylor was named vice-president, and L. Clarke was returned as secretary-treasurer, and George "Joker" Paton and W. Wyman were chosen as honorary presidents. Following the election of officers, plans for the season were discussed, and it was decided to open the season about April 26, some weeks earlier than last year.

Practically all of last year's teams were represented, and two new squads, the Art Point Challengers and the Cyclones, had delegates present. The financial report showed a fine balance, and the statement was accepted as satisfactory. The meeting decided to send the winners of the league to the Mainland to compete for the British Columbia championship.

Entries for the league will close April 18, when a general meeting will be held at the Y.M.C.A. All teams wishing to enter are asked to communicate with the secretary at G-3565.

Remember When

(Twenty-Five Years Ago)

Upwards of twenty men attended a practice of the Victoria Baseball Club that was held on Sunday afternoon at the Oak Bay Park. It was the first of the season, and there was a bunch of eager spectators on hand to take notes on the style and speed of their position. Coach Klop was on hand, and he put them through a fine work-out. Among others was Frank Mohan, a stranger to the majority of the club, who made a good impression with the bystanders. Likewise Camarusa, who twirled a few over the plate for the edification of the boys was commended. Bob Pedden, the local southpaw, loosened up a bit, while even Surplice was ready, despite the rawness of the atmosphere, to place a number of benders into the receptive glove of the big fellow who has taken the management of the club. At the finish, Klop pronounced the boys a likely lot. He was sure that he could organize from the material available a winning nine, and it was his intention to get about as soon as the season progressed. Another work-out will be held on the same grounds, Tuesday evening, at 6 o'clock.

The annual meeting of British Columbia Lacrosse Association was held in New Westminster over the week-end, and a large attendance was present. List of officers for the year follows: Honorary president, Hon. Richard McBride; president, A. W. Gray; first vice-president, Foster McGum, Victoria; second vice-president, Lionel York, Vancouver; third vice-president, J. Martin, Vancouver; secretary-treasurer, George M. Matheson, Vancouver; council, Con Jones, Vancouver; M. J. Barr, New Westminster; P. J. Lynch, New Westminster; H. W. Welsh, C. W. Murray, Vancouver; D. Campbell, Leo Sweeney, Victoria.

A great crowd greeted Jack Johnson, colored heavyweight champion of the world, on his arrival in New York from British Columbia. A large part of the throng was made up of colored people and they cheered the tall titleholder for several minutes as he stepped off the train. Johnson declared on arrival that he will try and get Jim Jeffries into the ring, and is willing to pay $5,000 as a forfeit if the match is arranged. He said he was glad to get back to New York, and shortly would leave for England to fulfill a contract engagement of several weeks. Before he departed for his hotel, Johnson stated that he was willing to meet any man in the world for a guarantee of $10,000.

Oaklands School Quintette Wins City Cage Title

Oaklands School captured the junior city basketball championship, yesterday morning, at the George Jay grounds by defeating South Park in the final, after a closely-fought battle, by a 16-13 score. The teams played comparatively good ball, with the winners leading at the interval, 9-7, chiefly through two fine baskets by Dunc Turner. Cullin was the big noise for South Park in this half and kept them in the fight. Kennedy, Morrison and Turner played well for the winners, while Cullin and Gibson looked South Park's best.

This morning, at 10 o'clock, on the same grounds, the senior title will be at stake when Oaklands appears against South Park. The latter will be out to avenge the junior setback.

Alan Le Marquand handled the whistle and the teams follow: Oaklands—Kennedy, Morrison, Berry, Zala, Turner, Lumie, and Switzer. South Park—Gibson, Cullin, Pridham, Bishop and Myra.

My Theories on Golf

Four Consistent Rounds Close to Par Make Tournament Total Hard to Beat—Lafont Leads Way in Atlanta Open

By BOBBY JONES

In the midst of all the fireworks which are likely to explode in a professional golf tournament, it is often difficult to keep one's sights adjusted and to remember that four rounds close to par usually add up to a total that is hard to beat. This is the reason that so many championships and tournaments are won by men who go along getting the figures, unexcitingly and unattended, while the more inspirational brethren, after getting off to hot starts, suddenly cool off and take seats in the rear.

This was precisely the story of the Atlanta open, which was won by young Ky Lafont, of Denver, with as fine a display of golf as anyone would care to see. At the very start the spotlight was taken by Dick Metz, who had turned in some fine scores in practice, and the old reliable, Johnny Golden, with rounds of 67 and 68, respectively. Later these two were joined by Charlie Lacey and Henry Picard as they each stuck in fine rounds, and a weather eye was always kept upon Paul Runyan, John Revolta and a few others. But until the last few holes, after all the others had finished, no one gave much thought to Lafont. Yet when all the scores were in, the overlooked one was found to be a matter of six clear strokes ahead of Golden, who finished second.

BAD SCORING CONDITIONS

Scoring conditions throughout were definitely bad. Several earlier freezes had made it impossible to get either fairways or greens into proper condition, and the cold wind which blew from start to finish was devastating. In these circumstances, the 67 of Metz, and the 68's by Golden and Tom Wright, the seventeen-year-old Knoxville youth, on the first day, and Henry Picard's 68 of the second round were wonderful performances. But the admiration excited by these scores and the excitement of the excellence of Lafont's four rounds of 73-72-72-69. As the weather grew worse, his golf became better, until at the finish no one was really close.

Knowing most of the others fairly well, I was especially interested in watching Lafont and Metz. I am glad that I saw each in good form. Although Lafont's abbreviated backswing causes him to lack the appearance of ease and grace of some players I have seen, no quarrel can be had with the way he brings his club to the ball. The thing about his swing which is most impressive is the ability which he shows to keep on hitting the ball in the center of the club. There are a number of players who can look very good for a round or so, but few who can go through four rounds, as Lafont did in Atlanta, under difficult conditions, driving consistently down the middle, planting almost every second shot on the green, and sticking close to par without the phenomenal putting luck which happens to be the kind of golf which will stand up best over the long run.

LETZ LOOKS GOOD

Dick Metz, too, looks to me as if he had the stuff. He is a graceful swimmer with a manner of coming into the ball which reminds one of Tommy Armour, which means that the right shoulder comes through a bit high and the left elbow remains in the follow-through. His putting is very smooth and appears to be a matter of six clear strokes ahead of Golden, who finished second.

Garrison Will Battle Marpole This Afternoon

HOPING to return with the Province Cup, which slipped through the J.B.A. hands last year, Manager-Corporal Bob Quinn and his smart-moving Garrison Tompkins, unbeaten senior "B" Rugby champions, left on last night's boat for the Mainland, where they will battle Marpole for the British Columbia title this afternoon at Brockton Point grounds. The Work Point lads have enjoyed a wonderful season in local circles and will be favored to take the Mainland champions into camp. Marpole earned the right to face the soldiers last week by blanking Britannia, 8-0, after eliminating Nanaimo after two replays.

BILLY SUNDAY NAMES MAJOR LEAGUE STARS

Evangelist Picks Chase as Best First Baseman—Lazzeri at Second

BROOKLYN, N.Y., March 29 (CP).—Billy Sunday presented a new version, today, of Daniel in the lions' den.

He predicted, right out loud, in Brooklyn, that the Dodgers were in for a poor season in the baseball league. To stir the Dodgers in their own ballpark is to tempt death. It may have been that the crackling cables of Brooklyn Bridge, which the outspoken evangelist had just traversed from Manhattan to the sister borough, reminded him somehow of the rusty hinges of the door of the lions' den.

At any rate, he summoned newsmen to his hotel room and made him give up which player he considered the best first baseman in the major league ball player before he turned evangelist. Mr. Sunday should know whereof he speaks.

The swashbuckling Billy said: "I don't think Brooklyn will have a very good team this year. They need pitchers, and a team can't win without pitchers."

ALL-STAR TEAM

Finally Mr. Sunday was at work on an all-time, all-star team. After much squinting of faded blue eyes, and much scratching of sparse hair, he gave up trying to fill shaped base. Otherwise, the team shaped up like this:

First Base—Hal Chase, once of the Yankees, or Lou Gehrig, now of the Yankees.

Second Base—Tony Lazzeri, of the Yankees.

Third Base—?

Shortstop—Hans Wagner, once of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Pitcher—Christy Mathewson, of the old Giants, supported by John Clarkson, of the Cubs, and Ruth Waddell of the Philadelphia Athletics for a southpaw.

Catcher—Buck Ewing, once of the Giants.

Outfielders—Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker and for extra, Chuck Klein, now of the Cubs.

No suggestion of a Brooklyn ball player there.

MARANVILLE TO APPEAR AGAIN

Broken Leg Will Keep Braves' Infielder in Hospital for Several Weeks

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 29 (AP).—Walter "Rabbit" Maranville will be back at second base in the line-up of Brooklyn Braves before the 1934 season is over.

This was the statement of Manager Bill McKechnie, of the baseball club, after a conference with physicians who took x-ray pictures of the veteran infielder's leg, which was broken in an exhibition game between the Braves and New York Yankees, here, yesterday.

Maranville will be confined to hospital for several weeks, but attending physicians said there was little likelihood of the injury cutting short his playing career.

Teaming up with Colin Milne, Murio advanced to the men's doubles final with a 7-5, 6-1 victory over Ed Port and Cameron.

Miss Marjorie Gregg and Murio beat Miss L. Moth and J. Hay in the mixed doubles semi-final, 6-4, 6-2. They clash with Susie Milne and Forrest in the final. All except Murio are from Vancouver.

FULL SCHEDULE TO BE PLAYED DURING EASTER HOLIDAYS

Teams Facing Three or Four Games Over Week-End—Arsenal to Meet Derby County Today—Huddersfield to Tackle Liverpool—Scottish Cup Semi-Finals Tomorrow

LONDON, March 29 (CP).—Easter will be no holiday for the English soccer player. The English Football League has a full schedule of matches for Good Friday, Saturday and Easter Monday, and there are some more on Tuesday, so when the crowded week-end is over, the promotion and relegation problems will likely have settled themselves.

Arsenal starts off with a battle at Highbury against Derby County tomorrow. The gunners then travel to Stoke City, and on Monday play a return match with Derby County, now tied with Tottenham Hotspurs for third place. Meanwhile Huddersfield has a bit easier, meeting Liverpool Friday; the cup finalist, Manchester City, on Saturday, and entertaining Liverpool on Tuesday.

ARSENAL MAKING CHANGES

For the match at Derby, Arsenal is making three changes, Wilson replacing Moss in goal, and Beasley and Bowden replacing the veteran Jack and Hulme, on the right wing. Derby will field the same team as last week, though Bowers is a doubtful starter.

With the return of its two South African winners, Nieuwenhuys and Hanson, Liverpool will be at full strength in its desperate fight to avoid relegation.

Grimsby Town clashes with Brentford week-end in the second division, but the fishermen hold a magnificent lead of eight points.

CUP SEMI-FINALS

GLASGOW, March 29 (CP).—The Scottish Cup semi-final will draw big crowds Saturday, and if those redoubtable teams, Glasgow Rangers and Motherwell, do not gain entry to the final of the soccer classic, a great many of the spectators are going to be disappointed.

Take on the troublesome St. Johnstone outfit, in one semi-final at Hampden Park, while Motherwell clash with St. Mirren at Tynecastle. With the leading teams engaged in the cup, the standing of the First Division leaders will not be changed over this week-end.

Braves' Shortstop Breaks Left Leg

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 29 (AP).—Walter "Rabbit" Maranville, veteran Boston Braves infielder, suffered a multiple fracture of the left leg today in the eighth inning of the exhibition game between the Braves and New York Yankees.

Attempting to score from third on a double steal, Maranville crashed into Norman Kie, Yankee catcher, breaking his left leg between the ankle and knee. Maranville was credited with scoring the run that tied the score, three-all. The game was called soon after he was taken to hospital.

PITCHERS NEEDED

Battle power, however, is not what the club needs most. With hitters like Red Rolfe, the sensational new streaky spinning machine in the major leagues last year, and much better pitching, to keep them in the pennant race this year.

On both counts Manager Joe McCarthy believes he has real reason to be confident the Yankees will give the champion Senators or any other rival a battle down the stretch.

It is nature, a question of how long the eminent Mr. Rolfe will covet in right field, on a daily basis, but the Babe's sensational streaky spinning machine has buoyed his own conviction he will do his share of the chores in at least 100 games.

MURIO ADVANCES TO FINAL ROUNDS

Joe Francisco, of Fernie, fought Biff Griffin, of Hlilbert, tonight winning on a technical knockout in the fourth round.

HODGSON WINS

Smoky Hodgson, of Nanaimo, met Ham Bailey, of Chemainus, in a three-round bout, the decision going to Hodgson.

As an added attraction, Leicester Booth met Windy Lorr in three two-minute rounds. The youngsters mixed well and lively in all three, the fight ending in a well-earned draw.

CLOSE RACE FOR AMERICAN LEAGUE FLAG EXPECTED

Yanks, Tigers and Red Sox Menacing Champion Senators

Three Clubs Expected to Furnish Stiff Opposition in Race for Flag This Season—Washington Club Will Use Same Line-Up as Last Year

By EDWARD J. REIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, March 29 (AP).—Take one swift look down the American League roll for 1934—and for the first time in years you see balanced competition and the promise of a knock-down, drag-out pennant scramble of the kind usually featured by the National League.

At least three clubs—Yankees, Tigers and Red Sox—have risen to menace the disillusioned champion Washington Senators, even though Connie Mack's Athletics had to be wrecked to provide the power base of two of them.

There is even hope for the rising White Sox, another beneficiary of the financial straits the A's found themselves in, after making a two-horse race of it with the Yankees from 1926 down through 1932.

The Browns in St. Louis have added strength and the impetus of old Rajah Hornsby's inspired leadership. The Indians, under Walter Johnson, moved back to their own tight little ball park, after a year of disastrous experiences in the wide stretches of the huge Cleveland Municipal Stadium.

FRESH HOPE
At every turn but Philadelphia, where Jimmie Fox alone remains as a star of the champions of 1933 and 1934, there is fresh hope, new vigor and strength. The mighty Bob Feller, Mickey Vernon, Edd Waubert, George Earnshaw and Max Bishop have joined Al Simmons, Jimmy Dykes and Mule Haas elsewhere, leaving the new edition of the Athletics a strong contender for eighth place.

The Senators are standing pat with the veterans of 1933, except for one outfield post, where Jonathan Stone joins Heinie Manush and Fred Schulte in the outer works, replacing the hook-nosed slugger, "Goose" Goslin, traded to the Tigers. With George Herman Ruth, now a neat forty-one, acting half his age this spring, the Yanks command the most serious attention. Any kind of improved pitching from "Red" Ruffing and Lefty Gomez, along with the aid of Johnny Allen, Russ Van Atta and Danny MacPadden, who must be better than he looked last season, will boom the Yanks' chances.

Four teams are expected to compete the loop this year. Hudson's A, Victoria and Five Cs are definite entries, while Spencer's is expected to be the other squad. Entries for the league will close on April 20.

BOYS' CENTRAL RECEIVES CUP

Curtis Cup Presented to School Captain by P. F. Curtis, the Donor—Team is Praised

The Curtis Cup, captured by the Boys' Central School Rugby team, was presented to Eric Barber, captain, yesterday morning, at the school grounds, by its donor, P. F. Curtis. In passing the silverware over to the young skipper, the donor commended the team's performance and their team on scoring such a fine win and hoped that the boys would continue to play the game after leaving school. Norman Forbes, school principal, introduced Mr. Curtis and Russell Ker, president of the Victoria Rugby Union.

Mr. Curtis was very anxious to encourage boys of 15-17, weight to play Rugby, and on his retirement from the presidency of the Victoria Rugby Union, he presented this cup for annual competition, stated Mr. Ker, before introducing the donor. In winning the trophy, Boys' Central played great Rugby, going through the schedule without defeat and their line intact. They defeated Monterey School in the final, 11-0. The great success of the team is due chiefly to the coaching of Major T. R. Whedon.

According to the reformers, the rising generation is sinking.

Mrs. Sopwith Will Be Member of New Endeavour's Crew

LONDON, March 29 (AP).—The Daily Mail says Mrs. T. O. M. Sopwith, wife of the owner of the America's Cup challenger, Endeavour, will be the first woman in the long history of competition for the trophy to become a member of a challenger's crew.

Mrs. Sopwith has been enrolled as a member of the Endeavour's complement for the races at Newport in September, the paper says, breaking all-male tradition.

PICARD WINS OPEN TOURNEY

By DILLON GRAHAM
Associated Press Sports Writer
PINEHURST, N.C., March 29 (AP).—Henry Picard, young Charleston pro, finally overcame his Pinehurst jinx today and won the thirty-second North and South golf tournament with a seventy-two-hole total of 283.

Twice before the slender Southerner had been out in front in this annual fixture, only to falter in the closing rounds, but today he met the challenge and beat out Horon Smith, Harry Cooper and George W. Dunlap, Jr., in a hot battle down the stretch. The others tied for second at 286.

A long hitter and deadly with his putter on these sand greens, Picard shot a 69 in the first round and came back with a brilliant 66 in the second. He jumped to 74 this morning and covered the last round in 72.

The executive follows: E. Modelt, J. C. Davidson and E. G. Gibson.

The members were asked to assemble at the field at 9 o'clock on Sunday morning, April 9, for a cleaning-up "bee." Arrangements were started, but the date not set, for a dance to augment club funds. A dance committee was appointed as follows: E. Lewington, T. Mulligan, E. Gibson, J. Munroe, E. Modelt, with power to add.

SLINGERS IN CAGE VERDICT

Winerymen Score 54-33 Win Over Young Blue Ribbons in Winter Cup Basketball
Outplaying their much younger opponents in both halves in a mediocre exhibition, Slingers advanced to the final of the Winter Cup knock-out basketball series last night at the Memorial Hall by defeating Young Blue Ribbons in the semi-final round, 54-33. The game was rough in spots, but it could easily be seen that the squads have been out of action for some time. The winery men went out in front in the first half and left the floor at the interval leading 31-10.

EDMONTON WINS FIRST PLAY-OFF

Defeat Port Arthur West Ends, 7-3, in First Game of Memorial Cup Series

By ALAN RANDALL
Canadian Press Sports Writer
WINNIPEG, March 29 (CP).—Champions of the Far West, Edmonton Athletic Club's junior hockeyists, tonight defeated Port Arthur West Ends here, 7-3, in the first of their two-game total-goal series for possession of the Abbott Cup and the right to meet Eastern Canada's representative in the Memorial Cup final.

The Albertans will carry their four-goal lead into the second fixture with the Thunder Bay tilt here Saturday.

The superb work of "Phat" Perras, in the Lakeland Province, before introducing the donor. In winning the trophy, Boys' Central played great Rugby, going through the schedule without defeat and their line intact. They defeated Monterey School in the final, 11-0. The great success of the team is due chiefly to the coaching of Major T. R. Whedon.

According to the reformers, the rising generation is sinking.

Bill Carse with three, Morey Rimstad, Neil Colville, with two, and Walter Rimstad, accounted for the Edmonton goals, while "Bunny" Fisker and Hagarty with two, notched for the Westies.

BASEBALL NOTES

ORLANDO, Fla.—The champion New York Giants took the long route home today, minus one of the players who worked out at their Miami Beach training camp. Ed Wineapple, left-handed pitcher, who hurried for Providence College several years ago, was turned over to the Buffalo Internationals as the Giants broke camp.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Fred (Dixie) Walker, young Yankee outfielder, is consulting a dentist instead of the club trainer to find out why he can't throw a ball in from the outfield properly. Trying to find the cause of the lameness in his shoulder which he first thought came from a pulled ligament, Walker found a couple of infected teeth, which might be causing the trouble.

ORLANDO, Fla.—Casey Stengel, Brooklyn manager, and First Baseman Sam Leslie are having quite a time over the latter's batting stance. Sam hasn't been hitting so well recently, and Casey has asked him to experiment with a new stance, so in batting practice he hits four times his own way and four times Casey's way.

NEW ORLEANS, La.—The Cleveland Indians' pitching staff is now composed of thirteen hurlers, with the retirement of Forest Two-good, big southpaw. He asked to be placed on the voluntary retired list, because of a chronic bad arm, which bothered him last year.

The factory system began to exist in Canada in the 60's and 70's of the last century.

Stocks Gain and Bonds Are Firm At Wall Street

NEW YORK, March 29 (AP)—Speculative markets rallied today, getting leverage, apparently, from possible inflationary implications of the United States Senate vote on increased veterans' benefits and reports a move was under way to get Upper House approval of a bonus pay with new currency.

Steel and iron stocks were firm and rather active. Homeplate Mining, up 8 points, and U.S. Smelting, ex-dividend, with a net gain of about 7, were favorites in the metal division. Chrysler, Pasco, Howe Sound, American Smelting and McIntyre Porcupine were up around 2 to 3. Other industrial sections responded more conservatively. U.S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, General Electric and John-Manville rising fractions to approximately a point. Case gained 3-1/8 and International Silver 2-1/4. Ralls and utilities were firm and without any particular significance today. The tone was steady. In the foreign section, German Government 7s were up 1-1/4.

Most price changes in the listed bond market were without any particular significance today. The tone was steady. In the foreign section, German Government 7s were up 1-1/4.

WHEAT PRICES

CHANGE LITTLE

Good Export Sales Keep Grain Market Firm at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, March 29 (CP)—

Boostered by good export sales, wheat prices without liberal liquidation on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today, and closed steady, at levels 1-8 cent lower to unchanged.

May wheat closed at 67-1/2, July at 68-7/8, and October at 70-5/8.

Chicago's futures estimated foreign sales at 750,000 bushels.

Much of the selling was done under cover, but it was generally believed the Government agency was the chief liquidator.

Liverpool wheat was unchanged at 1-20 higher, with improved demand and small shipments from Australia having some effect on sentiment. Chicago prices were steady, fractionally improved.

Normal pre-holiday dullness prevailed in the cash and coarse grains market.
